Career Trends in Vietnam: Two Perspectives

- Why career considerations perhaps should not unduly influence decisions about your education:
  - It is likely that you will switch careers many times in your working life.
  - If you are an undergraduate, you are likely to change you mind about your major.
- What can current trends in the Vietnamese economy tell us about career prospects for university educated young people?
  - Scientists and engineers are always in demand
  - Think twice before choosing business
- Remember: the quality of the US academic institution you chose is the most important factor.

MESSAGES / ADVICE

- Choose a career that best fits the country needs, contributes to the cause of a stronger and richer country. In this case, career orientation suggested by the government should be referred, as mentioned above
- Choose a career that gives overseas job, e.g. in Asean countries
- Choose career without any reference to country demands but allows you to work anywhere with good pay and satisfaction
